Three little bears sat down to read,
"Let's each read one," they all agreed.

One little bear had homework to do.
He went home and then there were two.

Two little bears sat down to read,
"Let's each read one," they both agreed.

One little bear said, "I'm all done!"
She went home and then there was one.

One little bear sat down to read.
"My two friends are what I need!"

That little bear said, "This isn't fun!"
She went home and then there were none.

The End!
