

Will You Bee Mine?

Written by Cherry Carl
Artwork@art4crafts.com

Will You Bee Mine?

Written by Cherry Carl
Artwork@art4crafts.com

"Will you be mine?" said Beary Boo.
"I'll share my honey pot with you!"

1

"Will you be mine?" said Beary Boo.
"I'll share my honey pot with you!"

1

"Will you be mine?" said Panda Poo.
"I'll share my sweet bamboo with you!"

2

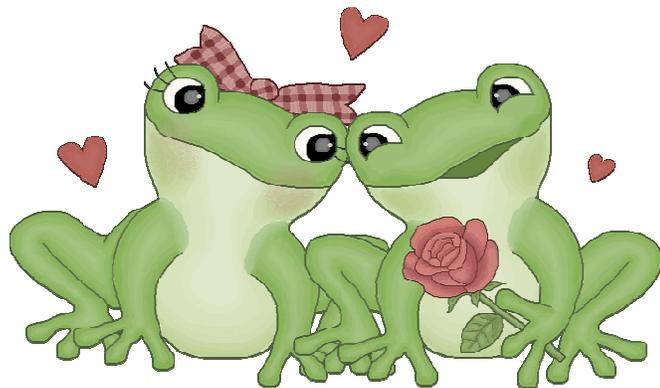

"Will you be mine?" said Panda Poo.
"I'll share my sweet bamboo with you!"

2

"Will you be mine?" said Froggy Foo.
"I'll catch some bugs to share with you!"

3

"Will you be mine?" said Froggy Foo.
"I'll catch some bugs to share with you!"

3

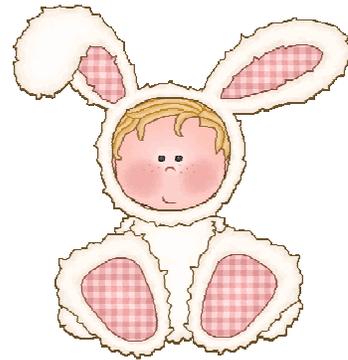

"Will you be mine?" said Cow Coo Coo.
"I'll share my field of grass with you!"

4

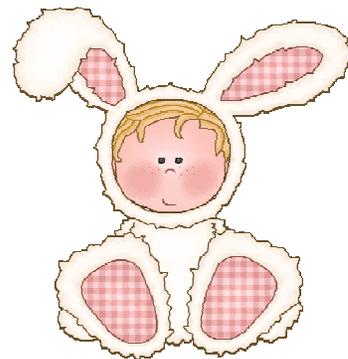

"Will you be mine?" said Cow Coo Coo.
"I'll share my field of grass with you!"

4

"Will you be mine?" said Bunny Boo.
"I'll share my Easter chicks with you!"

"Will you be mine?" said Bunny Boo.
"I'll share my Easter chicks with you!"

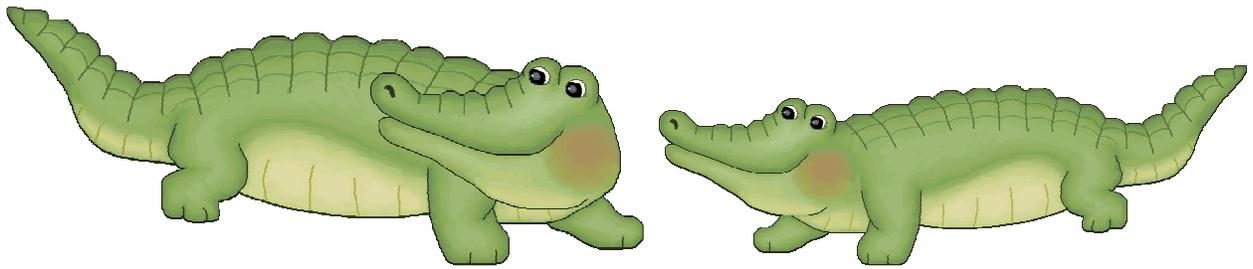

"Will you be mine?" said Hedgie Hoo.
"I've made a heart, and it's just for you!"

6

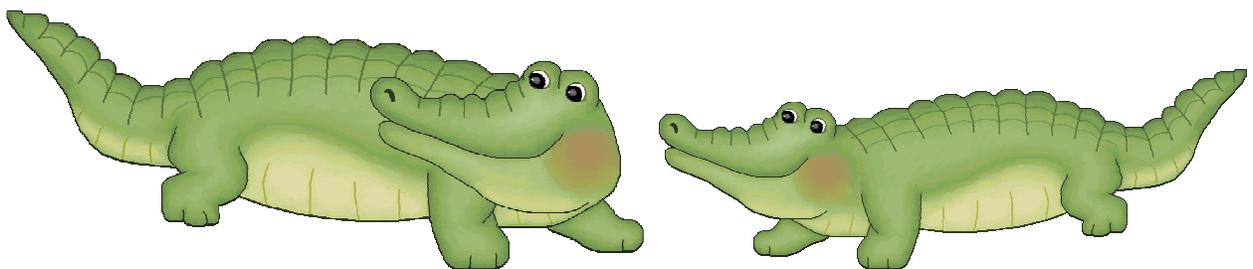

"Will you be mine?" said Hedgie Hoo.
"I've made a heart, and it's just for you!"

6

"Will you be mine?" said Gator Goo?
"I'll share my gator pond with you!"

7

"Will you be mine?" said Gator Goo.
"I'll share my gator pond with you!"

7

"Will you be mine?" said Zebra Zoo.
"I'll share my zebra days with you!"

"Will you be mine?" said Zebra Zoo.
"I'll share my zebra days with you!"

"Will you be mine?" said Milky Mew.
"I'll share my ball of yarn with you!"

9

"Will you be mine?" said Milky Mew.
"I'll share my ball of yarn with you!"

9

Note from the author:

The orange kitten on page nine looks so much like my own cat that I had to give it his nickname: Milky Mew! When he was just a kitten, one of five that had been abandoned in our front yard, he would lap up the milk and say an appreciative, "Mew! Mew! Mew!" Now that he's a tamed house cat, he still says thank you when he's fed! The name stuck!

10

Note from the author:

The orange kitten on page nine looks so much like my own cat that I had to give it his nickname: Milky Mew! When he was just a kitten, one of five that had been abandoned in our front yard, he would lap up the milk and say an appreciative, "Mew! Mew! Mew!" Now that he's a tamed house cat, he still says thank you when he's fed! The name stuck!

10